Modernization aiding National Steel and GC

By BILL WINTER
Editor

(Related story on Pg. 6)
The outlook of National Steel Corporation—bought by the most modern steel plants anywhere—is positive and upbeat despite the fact that a steel market downturn is expected in 1980. Enhancing the future of Granite City Steel's parent corporation is a lean, aggressive approach made possible by a continuing internal cost improvement program, and the prospect of worldwide steel demand rising 2.75 percent a year to 700 million tons by 1985. Steelmaking capacity is growing 1 percent annually and is expected to total 661 million tons by 1985.
These and other points were voiced Thursday evening by Howard M. Love, a former Granite City Steel president who is currently president of National Steel, he will add the title of chief executive officer March 1.
He was interviewed by the Press-Record prior to a Granite City Steel management club meeting attended by National Steel Corp. Chairman George Simson and NSC Pres. Love Thursday night at the Marriott Hotel.
An example of National Steel's emphasis on modernization is the continuous-pouring slab casting machine that is being installed at Granite City Steel, Love said during the interview. It will produce about one million tons of steel slabs a year, half of GC Steel's slab requirements.

It is part of a $60 million capital improvement program here that also includes adaptation of the local plant's two 255-ton, top-blown basic oxygen furnaces, making them jointly top- and bottom-blown to permit use of more scrap steel.

The slab caster is to be completed in early 1981. The furnace project is to be finished by the end of 1980.

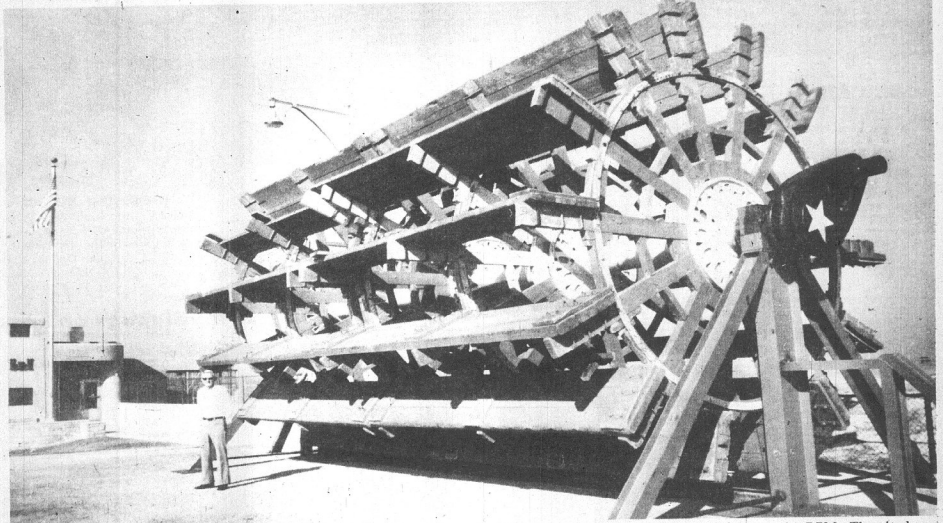

Goals of the big investment at GC Steel are substantial energy savings, environmental gains and improved operating efficiency, productivity, product quality and competitive position, Love said. There will be greater yield from available hot metal and an expanded range of products.

With the Granite City Steel continuous caster, National Steel's continuous casting capability will grow from 30 percent now to 50 percent for 1982 shipments, Love said. The average at other domestic integrated steel companies is about 15 percent and only slight growth by them is projected.

He utilized a chart to make this point, and another chart as he asserted, "Worldwide supply and demand for steel is expected to shift from the current excess capacity and 'buyers' market' to a virtual balance in the mid-1980s, with possible shortages developing later in the decade."

Present worldwide supply is slightly over 600 million tons and the demand is between 550 and 600 million tons.

MAIN ATTRACTION at the Granite City Locks No. 27 visitors center, when completed, will be this 48-year-old paddle wheel which dwarfs Lockmaster Floyd Wade, photographed with it Friday. The wheel was used on the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers dredge Kennedy from 1932 when it was constructed, until last year when it was removed from the river dredge for replacement. Made entirely of wood, except for the shaft through the middle, the wheel measures 18 feet in diameter and is 26 feet, six inches wide. Weighing 26 tons, the wheel was powered by two steam reciprocating engines, each producing 580 horsepower and turning at 24 RPM. The dredge operated from Lock and Dam No. 22, south of Hannibal, Mo., to Cairo, Ill., on the Mississippi River, more than 300 miles; and as far north on the Illinois River as LaGrange, approximately 80 miles. The paddle wheel will be refurbished this spring, but can be seen on display in the visitors area at the local locking facility at the southern end of the Chain of Rocks Canal. The dredge is presently in "mothballs."

Record year at GC Steel

Granite City Steel set a multitude of production records during 1979, according to President James V. Stack. He said 21 different annual records were set during the year by units from one end of the plant to the other.

"Total shipments—the final result—probably are the true measure of how we perform. And we set a new record in that area, as well as in prime shipments. Hot Rolled Finishing shipments and North Plant shipments," he said. "Total shipments in 1979 were 2,285,406 tons of steel of various types, all flat-rolled. This was more than 150,000 tons higher than the previous record set in 1978."

Stack revealed that four major departments set records—the Blast Furnaces, the Basic Oxygen Furnace Shop, the Blooming Mill and the 80-Inch Hot Strip.

Total Blast Furnace production from Granite City Steel's two furnaces amounted to 1,623,567 tons—beating the 1976 record by 20,000 tons.

The additional iron helped enable the

More bidders show interest

By GARY SCHNEIDER
of the Press-Record

Five contractors have obtained specifications for constructing an overpass on 19th Street between West Granite City and the downtown area and officials are hopeful at least three of the firms will submit bids at the state bid opening Friday, Jan. 25, in Springfield.

The project first was put out for bid Nov. 30 and attracted only one bid. Millstone Construction Co., St. Louis, bid $6,400,504 for the work, but the state rejected the bid, since it was 19 percent over the construction estimate of $5,333,000.

Since that time, some steps have been taken to make the project more attractive to construction companies to bid. Although the construction plans are nearly identical, the number of working days estimated to be needed has been reduced from nearly 400 to 300.

City Engineer Morrissey explained that the reduction in the number of working days is very important, since the state estimates there

Campaign for maternity center

A fund campaign has just been launched to establish the Alpha Center for Women in downtown Granite City. Ed Boyer is the campaign chairman and can be contacted at 877-4527 for speakers on the drive.

Mrs. Susan Gasparovic is president of the Alpha Center board, which hopes to acquire a building to provide services, guidance and assistance to females who, for reasons beyond their control, cannot cope with the challenges of pregnancy alone and do not wish to have an abortion.

The Alpha Center (the name relates to its role as "a beginning") has as its current address P.O. Box 987, Nameoki Station, Granite City, Ill. 62040.

Boyer said, "The purpose of the drive is to create a home for pregnant women and girls. It will take at least $80,000 to purchase the house and get the center started. Since the organization has been newly formed, the total amount is needed."

"The proposed facility has ample room—areas for immediate use and for future expansion. It will provide shelter and services, short-term and long-term."

"The center will focus on assisting the residents in obtaining the services of existing agencies and in augmenting these services, when necessary. An ongoing educational program will be provided."

"All work is being done on a volunteer basis."

Briarcliff assessing

Briarcliff residents will have the opportunity this week to make sure that the Granite City assessor staff has accurate data on their homes.

The staff will be at its office in the City Hall basement from 7 to 10 tonight and Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings.

Briarcliff area home owners are being urged to visit the office on one of those four nights to review recorded information on the size of their home, type of construction, number of rooms, lot size, garage and other descriptive material that later is used to set assessments.

If this approach proves helpful, other neighborhoods will be designated for specific nights this winter and spring.

Assessor Von Dee Cruse said it is the desire to have all residential data as correct as possible. With the large workload that is involved, input from the family that is familiar with the home can be valuable in assuring accuracy, he commented.

JA drive

Junior Achievement today is launching the 1980 JA fund drive here with a goal of $19,000.

The figure represents the amount needed to operate the program at centers in Granite City and Madison for one year.

James L. Eisenbeis, vice-president of administration, Granite City Steel, said, "We feel confident that with the efforts of our board members and the cooperation of the area business community, we will reach our goal. "Since we have expanded our program this year, our needs are greater and we are looking for greater support from the community."

Junior Achievement of Mississippi Valley is the top JA program in the nation and the Granite City, Madison and Venice program is one of the top JA programs in the Mississippi Valley Area.

Directors include Eisenbeis, Paul H.

Colleges honor Sen. Vadalabene

Sen. Sam M. Vadalabene, (Dem., 56th Dist.) has received an Outstanding Legislator Award (OLLIE) from the Federation of Independent Illinois Colleges and Universities for his contributions to higher education.

The presentation was made by Dr. John R. Alberti, president of Blackburn College.

The award is given by the federation to legislators who have shown a deep understanding of the problems of higher education in the state, an have made creative contributions in the drafting of legislation affecting both public and private higher education." Dr. Alberti said in making the presentation.

The OLLIE is the highest award given by the organization, which represents 51 independent institutions in Illinois.

"This award has a special meaning to me," Sen. Vadalabene commented. "I have always been interested in furthering all kinds of educational opportunity during my career in the House and the Senate, although many might have thought that my exclusive focus has been on public schools, particularly in my district."

"I appreciate the contributions that are made by private colleges and universities, and I'm proud that the federation has taken note of the way I've tried to express that appreciation in my legislative activities."

Mailgrams provide next-day delivery in U.S., Canada

Mailgram service, which enables mailers in Granite City to reach any point in the United States and Canada overnight, is becoming increasingly popular with residents and businesses who require delivery less expensive than a telegram and faster than a letter. In Canada, this same service is called Teletype.

Mailgram is a joint venture between Western Union and the U.S. Postal Service. It has grown dramatically since its introduction in 1970, when 70,000 messages were sent. During the 1978-79 fiscal year ended Sept. 30, a record 37,000,000 Mailgrams were delivered.

Postmaster Jack D. Wilkins of Granite City says Mailgrams have about the same impact as telegrams for greetings and congratulations, sales promotions, new product announcements, price changes, sales force communications, and fund-raising.

Mailgrams move through Western Union's electronic transmission network to teleprinter terminals strategically located in 141 U.S. and 39 Canadian postal installations. Messages entered by 7 p.m. local time are delivered by letter carrier the next business day.

They can be sent by telephone through any Western Union office. Mailgrams also can be sent by Telex or TWX machines and through computer to computer direct linkup and by computer generated tapes.

Postmaster Wilkins said the charge for sending a Mailgram by telephone is $2.80 for the first 50 words. An option of the service is a Business Reply Mailgram. The Mailgram recipient receives a blue business reply envelope in order to respond to the sender's request. Replies are returned for the price of business reply postage plus a 10-cent surcharge.

Certified Mailgram service providing evidence of delivery also is available.

Mealybugs on houseplants

Mealybugs are flattened scale-like insects that are pretty tough to control. Soft stemmed plants like coleus, African violets, fuchsias, ferns, dracaenas, ivy, and rubber plants seem especially susceptible.

If you have mealybugs on your plants, you'll see white cottony blobs scattered on the branches. If you notice these cottony blobs on your plants, you can be sure that every leaf and tender stem will be covered with tiny pale yellow to orange scale-like crawlers which actively move about in search of just the right spot to set up housekeeping.

Mealybugs cause your plants to turn pale or yellowish and tend to stop growing. Plants will gradually stop flowering and seem to be partly wilted.

Mealybug control may require throwing out some of the worst plants. If it is on one or two, and the rest seem OK, throw out these that are infested.

Look closely at the leaves and veins of each of the others to see if you can see any of the small crawlers. If they are OK, be sure each "clean" plant does not touch any other plant.

If everything seems to have mealybugs, start a spray program with diazinon, acephate (orthene), or malathion. Spray on a weekly schedule for six weeks.

If you use diazinon, pour some dilute spray material on the soil each time you spray your plants. If other insects besides mealybugs seem to be vacationing on your plants, use orthene.

Orthene has more range as an insecticide while it maintains good effectiveness against mealybugs. Be sure to read the label before you apply any of these to your plants. If you are in doubt, spray one or two plants to see how they respond to that product. With any of these three materials, the repeat treatments are necessary to eventually wipe out the entire colony.

are only about 100 days of good weather in which work can be done. "That made it look like a four-year job," to contractors, who are reluctant to tie up their equipment and money that long on a job.

"We felt the job could be done in three years, since you can work more than 100 days per year around here and we felt all along that it could be done quicker than the state's estimate of 395 days," Brewer said.

"Contractors have told us that predicting three years into the future is no problem, but the fourth year bothered them, since labor prices will change, concrete prices jump around almost as quick as gold prices and other factors.

"In addition, the bulk of their work—putting up the bridge deck and doing the concrete work—will be in the last 100 days. Before that is just putting up the supports and that kind of thing."

"With prices on steel and concrete fluctuating, some of the contractors indicated they just could not lock into their crystal balls clearly enough to figure what it would cost them in that fourth year. That's why it was important we convince the state that this is a three-year project," Brewer explained.

He said he and David Nolan, administrative assistant to Mayor Paul Schuler, have talked to several contractors and the state Department of Transportation, which will approve the bids. Of the five contractors who have taken out plans for the project and three of them "look pretty good," Brewer said hopefully.

"After five years of working on this thing, I would like to see it come to a desirable end, he concluded.

Six companies picked up specifications from IDOT before the Nov. 30 bid opening, but five decided not to submit bids. The possibility that lawsuits blocking construction of the new locks and dam at Alton could be coming to an end so that project could start was considered one reason some of the contractors decided not to tie-up their equipment for four years on the Granite City overpass.

Meanwhile, the city has been attempting to secure sufficient funds to meet the anticipated cost of the overpass.

Available funds, thus far, include between $1.3 million and $1.7 million from Granite City Steel, $1,711,045 from the Illinois Commerce Commission grade crossing protection fund, $1.4 million from a Federal Aid to Urban Systems grant, $600,000 in federal Community Development funds, and $127,155 from railroad whose tracks will be spanned by the overpass.

It may be necessary to sell up to $1 million in general obligation bonds to complete the financing, if the low bid Friday is over the maximum of $5,548,200 which is available (including the $1.7 million from Granite City Steel). Councilmen have indicated they are opposed to selling the GO bonds, since they would require a tax levy to repay them, but the bonds may be necessary if the city has to accept a higher bid.

Kelly, A. O. Smith Corp. plant manager, Carl E. Mathis, Illinois Power Co. service area manager, and William F. Winter, editor of the Press-Record.

"At the 'Future Unlimited Banquet' held May 29, 1979, twenty scholarships were presented to Mississippi Valley Achievers. Five Granite City Achievers received scholarships, more than double of any other center.

Julie Recklein and Barb Veizer each received scholarships to the Illinois Business and Technical School.

Mike Kupinski received the American Steel Foundries grant. And both Mary Beth McGarrahan, last year's Center president, and Bill Polley received the Hennann F. Spoehrer Award.

The cash awarded for the Spoehrer

Awards is collected from a "tax" the JA companies pay to Junior Achievement. The student companies pay roughly the same percentage on profits that corporations pay.

Kelly serves on the Junior Achievement Scholarship Committee. He comments, "JA scholarships help, and Achievers are challenged by JA. They learn from it, and they develop social and leadership skills."

The Achievers ARE Junior Achievement, in the viewpoint of the sponsors. And they indicate they enjoy the challenge, the learning, and the friendship that go with being an Achiever.

"What do Achievers get out of JA?" "You realize all the challenges in running a business," Mike Bennett said. He is President of "Hang-ups" and president of the Achievers Association of Granite City.

"I've learned to appreciate our free enterprise system. And I've made hundreds of friends in the Mississippi Valley Area, as well as throughout the United States."

Mary Burns, President of "Oncarg," agrees with him but points to other JA activities. "Last summer, I received a scholarship to attend the Dale Carnegie Course, a self-confidence course, through Junior Achievement."

"I've attended several conferences, and am hoping to receive a college scholarship through JA."

There is a theme in what is said by the local Achievers: You can run a business and still have fun.

They are willing to work hard and appreciate the rewards of hard work, they conclude.

BOF Shop, which makes steel, to turn out 1,977,093 tons—over 50,000 tons better than the record year of 1976.

At the Blooming Mill, 1,790,165 tons of ingots were rolled into slabs.

That was 28,000 tons more than the department had in its record year of 1976.

The 80-Inch Hot Strip had the biggest percentage of increase among the four departments, surpassing its 1978 record by nearly 150,000 tons. Crews there rolled 2,371,444 tons of steel coils.

Commenting on the recently concluded strong production year, Stack said, "Starting off 1980 on a more subdued level, we have a long way to go to match what we did in 1979."

"But I am confident that the orders will start coming in before many more weeks roll by—and that we have a very good shot at equaling or beating our performance of last year. With the employees' continued help and cooperation, we can do it."

BURT divers elect, make training plans

The Bubblemasters Underwater Recovery Team (BURT) met Sunday at the home of Team Captain Bruce Evans, 633 Briarwood Lane, to elect officers and discuss plans for the coming year.

Members re-elected Evans to serve as captain for his third consecutive year.

Others elected were: Vance Weiss and Bill Horton, lieutenants; Dee Adams, treasurer; and Paula Weiss, secretary.

It was decided to increase training programs for the recovery team, specifically in the area of first aid and cardiopulmonary resuscitation.

Improved coordination between BURT and area rescue groups also will be sought in 1980, it was agreed.

Although BURT is the sole underwater diving group in this area, it was noted that a rescue team is active in the Alton Wood River region and the Long Lake Fire Department has trained personnel in this vicinity.

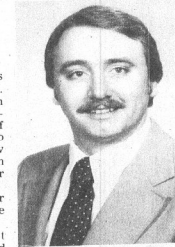

BURT divers provide recovery assistance without charge to all state and local law enforcement agencies.

Better communication with these groups to improve

"call out" procedures also is a goal in 1980, Evans said. In other action, team members agreed to investigate the purchase of two-way underwater radio equipment that will allow communication between divers or between a diver and the surface.

Also planned for this year are efforts to start a salvage recovery program.

BURT has a current membership of 14 qualified divers.

County employees work as negotiations proceed

A special meeting of the Madison County Board is expected to be called for later this week to ratify a new contract for county clerical employees. Negotiators and county finance officials were to meet today to prepare for the board meeting.

Failure by the board to ratify the agreement at the regular meeting Wednesday, Jan. 16, led to a two-hour strike Thursday morning by about 250 members of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees Local 799, along with about 200 other employees who honored the picket line.

The workers returned to their jobs when County Board Chairman Nelson Hagmann of Granite City assured them a meeting would be held today between union representatives and members of the county board's finance and negotiating committees to discuss the issue.

The primary question which led to the board tabling action on a tentative agreement with the union is whether approval of the document will overdraw the amount of money the county has available for raises.

The tentative agreement called for county workers to receive a 30-cent-per-hour increase in their base pay, plus a cost-of-living increase linked to inflation. County officials disagree on how much the cost-of-living clause will cost.

Board Member Frank Dalton of Collinsville, who is on the finance committee, predicted approval of the document would cause a $133,000 deficit by the end of the fiscal year.

Negotiating Committee Chairman Herbert Milton Jr. of Granite City disagrees. Milton estimates the cost-of-living clause will give each employee a 10-cent-per-hour increase in the first quarter of the year and five cents per hour more in each of the next three quarters, which the county could afford.

Milton said his figures show the raises would increase the cost to the county about $430,000 per year while the county has $650,000 set aside for pay increases for all employees.

Milton says he is angry over failure of the board to ratify the agreement last week and said he intends to challenge Dalton's figures at today's meeting.

Portell also participated in the design of future education and training programs for circuit clerks in Illinois.

Mary L. Small, McDonough County circuit clerk and president of the Illinois Circuit Clerks Association, stressed the importance of cooperation by the association in the continued professionalization of circuit clerks necessitated by increased demands for court management.

Workshops were led by: Tom Appleton, clerk, Fourth District Appellate Court; Dr. Stephen Daniels, Center for Legal Studies; Edward J. Schoenbaum, director of training, Center for Legal Studies; Dr. Winnie Lyday, Supreme Court Committee on Criminal Justice; and Randall Murphy, chairman of the administrative office of the Illinois Courts Judicial Management Advisory Committee.

Nighohossian retained by county housing board

Casper Nighohossian of Granite City is still the attorney for the Madison County Housing Authority, but he now has a two-year, rather than a three-year contract.

The authority's board of commissioners has voted to void the three-year contract with Nighohossian that it had approved last month.

The action came after the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) stated a three-year contract is longer than its regulations allow.

Nighohossian said that until last month, he had a contract with the authority that could be cancelled by either side with a 30-day notice. He has been working for the authority for about three years.

However, HUD officials during a management review last fall interpreted the contract as being long-term. Nighohossian said he viewed it as a month-to-month contract.

The housing board in December approved setting a limit on the contract. Then the authority received HUD's written management review, which stated the contract could not be any longer than two years without receiving HUD approval.

Under the terms of the contract, Nighohossian's retainer fee was increased from $8,400 to $9,600.

Nighohossian's new two-year contract was approved on a 2-1 vote, with Thomas Jun of Alton abstaining.

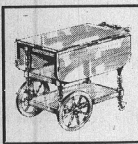

Voting for the new contract were Mary Jean Davis of East Alton and Paul Bargiel of Madison.

Voting no was Reese Hoskin of Collinsville. Hoskin said he opposed giving any employee a multi-year contract, and he thought the retainer was too high.

The attorney also receives money for handling evictions and rent collections. His bill for that work in 1979 is $8,000, he said.

Nighohossian said HUD also did not like the fee structure he used for evictions and collections. The attorney said that it would be more expensive to do it the way HUD suggests, and that the housing authority couldn't afford it.

Love elected chief executive officer of National Steel firm

At a regular meeting of national Steel Corporation's board of directors, Howard M. Love has been elected chief executive officer of the corporation, effective March 1, 1980, in addition to his position as president.

Love, currently president and chief operating officer, will continue to serve as chief operating officers until that date. He is a former president of Granite City Steel.

George A. Stinson, who will be 65 on Feb. 11, will continue as chairman of the board after March 1.

Stinson, currently the corporation's chairman, will serve in those capacities until March 1, when he will be succeeded by Love as chief executive officer.

Love joined National Steel in 1956 after graduation from the Harvard Graduate School of Business. A native of Pittsburgh, he had graduated from Colgate University in 1952 and served with the U.S. Air Force.

Joining National Steel as a sales trainee in 1956, he served in various operating, sales and administrative positions before becoming president of National's Midwest Steel Division, Portage, Ind., in 1966.

In addition to these duties, he also was named chairman of National Pipe and Tube Company, a National Steel subsidiary at Liberty, Tex., in 1974.

In December 1975, Love was elected president and chief operating officer of the corporation, as well as a director and a member of the executive committee.

In addition to Love's participation in a number of civic and cultural organizations, his business directorships include Mellon Bank, Monsanto Company, Gould Inc., and Trans World Corporation, parent company of Trans World Airlines, Inc. (TWA).

Stinson joined National Steel in April 1961 as vice-president and secretary. He was elected a director in August 1963 and president in December of that same year.

Stinson became National Steel's chief executive officer in February 1966. In May 1972, he became chairman of the board of directors.

Howard M. "Pete" Love, a native of Pittsburgh, Pa., was born April 5, 1930. He was graduated by Colgate University with a B.A. degree in 1952. After serving with the Air Force, he attended Harvard Business School, 1954-56, where he earned a master's degree in business administration in 1956.

Love began his career in the steel industry at the Great Lakes Steel Division of National Steel Corp. in 1956 as a sales trainee. He worked in the metallurgical and operating departments, and was general foreman of cold reduction before being named a sales engineer in 1961.

In 1962, he was named assistant general manager of sales at National's Midwest Steel Division, Portage, Ind.

He was appointed assistant general manager-district offices at Great Lakes Steel in September 1964.

In January 1965, he became assistant to the president of the Great Lakes Steel Division.

In June 1966, Love was named president of the Midwest Steel Division. In early 1972, he also became president of the Granite City Steel Division, Granite City, which was acquired in mid-1971.

A major part of his dual responsibility was to integrate the operations of two divisions so they could operate effectively in tandem even though they are about 300 miles apart.

In late 1974, Love was named chairman of National Pipe and Tube Company, a National Steel subsidiary which built and operates a plant at Liberty, Tex., for production of welded "oil country" tubular goods.

Love was elected president and chief operating officer of National Steel on Dec. 17, 1975. At the same time, he was elected a director and a member of the executive committee.

He next was elected chief executive officer of National Steel, effective March 1, 1980, when he will also continue to serve as president of the corporation.

On Sept. 17, 1979, Governor Richard Thornburgh appointed Love to serve as Pennsylvania's business representative on the advisory board of the Coalition of Northeastern Governors (CONEG).

He is a director of the United Way of Allegheny County and of the Pittsburgh Regional Planning Association; a trustee of Children's Hospital of Pittsburgh and of the Pittsburgh Ballet Theatre, Inc.; and a member of the Metropolitan Opera Association, New York.

He is also a member of the executive board of the Allegheny Trails Area Council, Boy Scouts of America.

The business directorships of H. M. Love include Mellon Bank, Monsanto Company, Gould Inc., and Trans World Corporation, parent company of Trans World Airlines, Inc. (TWA).

Love, his wife, the former Jane Vaughn of Staten Island, N.Y., and their five children reside in the Pittsburgh area.

knife away, toward the Granite City Steel parking lot. Parrott then returned to the restaurant where the policeman was attending to Valencia.

Parrott was questioned and arrested. Valencia was taken by a Granite City ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center where he was admitted with two stab wounds to his abdomen and one to his right arm. He was listed in satisfactory condition.

Vice presidency still possible for Thompson

By ROBERT ESTILL
Press-Record
Washington Bureau

Sen. Charles Percy plans to play a leading role in the Illinois delegation to the GOP national convention, but he is keeping mum about his presidential preferences.

Percy expects to be co-chairman with Gov. James Thompson of the "unity" delegate candidates fielded by the regular Republican organization.

The senator's avoidance of singling out a presidential favorite fits in with the Thompson game plan.

Thompson's strategy, of course, is to control a large bloc of unpledged Illinois delegates when the GOP meets in July in Detroit to select its national ticket-leaders.

The uncommitted bloc not only increases Illinois' leverage at the convention but enhances Thompson's prospects as a potential nominee for vice president.

Illinois, the third largest state delegation to the convention, will send 102 voting delegates to Detroit—92 elected in Congressional districts in the March 18 primary and 10 "at large" delegates chosen at the state GOP convention.

As a senator, Percy is certain to be one of the "at large" delegates.

It is almost equally certain that Percy, co-chairman in 1976 with then Gov. Richard Ogilvie of the Illinois delegates committed to then President Gerald Ford, will hold a similar title with Thompson.

As before, Percy might share a title but it probably again will be the governor who will be calling the shots.

Sen Percy suggests that nothing is nailed down, and he said he does not feel that he, as a senator, should be running the party.

"They may decide to make me co-chairman this time," Percy said. "Jim Thompson has talked about it, but it is not a big deal."

And Percy notes there is nothing certain about the make-up of this year's Illinois GOP delegation.

Gov. Thompson, widely presumed to favor either John Connally or George Bush, will have "unity" delegates running in about half of the state's 24 districts.

But his slates face opposition from backers of Ronald Reagan, Senate GOP Leader Howard Baker and Illinois Congressman Philip Crane and John Anderson.

What makes this Illinois delegate round-up particularly unpredictable is the GOP rule change which will make it difficult, if not impossible, for voters to "tell the players' preferences without a secret ballot."

In the past two presidential elections, both the GOP and the Democrats listed the presidential preference of the delegate candidate in parentheses behind the candidate's name on the ballot.

A delegate hopeful had no preference, he or she was identified as "uncommitted" in parentheses.

Democratic delegate candidates still will run this way. But the rule change pushed through with Thompson's support means that only the delegate candidates' names—and not their preferences—will appear on the GOP primary ballot.

That change was widely interpreted in Illinois as a blow to Reagan, the GOP pack leader with the greatest name recognition of any of the presidential aspirants.

Sen Percy maintains he is genuinely uncommitted and will remain so until the mettle of all the would-be presidents is tested in the primaries.

He finds something good to say about almost all of the GOP hopefuls.

He says Anderson, a liberal Republican closest to Percy in the ideological spectrum, is "very courageous" because he supports the grain embargo and increasing gasoline taxes—both, coincidentally, positions also taken by Percy.

Percy says he has worked most closely in the Senate with Baker and Bush, a former ambassador and ex-Central Intelligence Agency director.

He says he has a "friendly and cordial" relationship with Connally and has "associated with the ex-Texas governor."

He notes that Reagan came to Illinois to campaign for him in 1978 when Percy desperately needed the help.

Percy made no reference to Crane, who is further to the right than any of the presidential hopefuls.

"I have no reason to jump on anyone's bandwagon," Percy said. "They are all friends of mine, but the issue is which one has the best chance of being elected."

Percy will make up his mind before the March 18 primary, but he does not plan on making any public endorsements.

"I consider the primary a secret ballot, and I will protect the integrity of that secrecy," Percy said.

The senator can be counted on to do just that—at least until it is clear which way the wind is blowing.

Teen arrested with marijuana

Granite City police have released an 18-year-old allegedly caught in possession of 60 grams of marijuana on the parking lot of Tri-Mor Bowl Saturday night, but plan to apply for a felony warrant against him after laboratory tests are completed.

An officer said he talked to the young man and a young woman on the parking lot and obtained permission to search their car and possessions.

When an officer opened a compartment in the young man's wallet, the youth grabbed some small foil packets from the compartment and put them in his mouth.

Force was required to remove the packets from his mouth, it was alleged. The packets were sent to a laboratory for analysis.

In the youth's coat pocket, officers alleged finding a paper bag containing three plastic bags of marijuana.

Testing with a field test kit indicated the substance was marijuana, but it was also sent to a laboratory and the youth was released, because the Madison County state's attorney's office refuses to issue felony warrants in drug cases until laboratory reports confirm the contents of the substances.

Venice, Madison high school students form 3 companies

By JACK HUETHER
Madison-Venice JA is just seven weeks old, but both the Advisers and Achievers are enthusiastic and learning. The business atmosphere depicts a Junior Achievement program more established than its age would indicate.

Major credit for the three companies is attributed to the dedication of James Eisenbeis and Henry Gray.

Both of Granite City Steel. There was a need for the JA program in Madison and Venice, many persons believed. Eisenbeis and Gray were instrumental in working out the planning and details needed for the endeavor.

Eisenbeis said, "There was a need to implant a JA program closer to home. That way, JA would be more readily available to many students.

The three JA companies are busy making candles, painted ceramic figures, and ashtray candleholders. They meet on Wednesday evenings at the OATH Center in Madison.

The response of the students has been tremendous, pointing out the need for an expanded JA program in Madison in the years to come, Eisenbeis comments.

Nameoki earmarks funds

By RICK PEARSON
More than $110,000 in Community Development funds have been earmarked for three projects in State Park Place.

Robert Holder, administrative aide for Nameoki Township (agent for the grants), said the money will be spent on development of a park.

remodeling of the community center and construction of sidewalks between State Park and Kreitner elementary schools.

Holder said $20,000 in Community Development money has been approved for the design and construction of a park on Route 40 (Collinsville Road) and bordered by Princeton and Harvard streets.

Holder said work to design the park is being supplied by SIUE Area Development, headed by Robert Koepke of the university's Department of Earth Science, Geography and Planning.

Land for the park has already been acquired, Holder said, and design plans also include equipment for the facility. Target date for completion of the park is July, with construction probably beginning this spring, Holder said.

A total of $60,000 in Community Development money has been approved for the remodeling of the current community center. Holder said the remodeling will include bringing the building up to housing standards, as well as federal requirements for accessibility for the handicapped.

Will the grain cutoff be worth the cost?

Politicians will argue for years — historians, perhaps, for decades — about the advisability of cutting off grain exports to Russia in retaliation for the invasion of Afghanistan.

The question at hand is: Will the price the United States (and U.S. farmers) must pay to enforce the embargo be worth the result?

Southern Illinois economist Walter J. Wills isn't saying he can answer that question. But he has analyzed some of the possible results and calculated some of the effects U.S. farmers and the government are likely to feel from President Carter's Jan. 4 embargo.

Mr. Carter axed all sales of wheat above three million tons and corn sales above five million tons, effectively setting aside about 17 million tons in intended purchases by the U.S.S.R.

The United States is contractually committed to the eight million tons of grains that the president is permitting to be shipped to Russian ports.

Wills, a professor of agricultural economics in the SIUE School of Agriculture, said it is unknown how effective the measure will be in reducing grain supplies in Russia.

"Other countries may ship grain to Russia to help make up the feed deficit," he said. "There aren't enough supplies available worldwide to make up the total difference, but there are other ways Russia may reduce its need for grains."

"Poland — a U.S. grain customer and Soviet ally — could import from the United States and transship the grain straight to Russia. Or, Poland could ship grain to Russia and then import from the United States to make up the difference.

"It's quite possible, too, that Russia could reduce the size of its recently expanded livestock herd to reduce its need for feed grains."

"If herds are liquidated in Russia, this will reduce the market demand for feed grains for several years. The implications of this embargo evidently go beyond a one-shot impact."

Wills said there is further evidence that U.S. farmers will be feeling the impact for many years.

"Will this embargo — on top of the larger embargoes by Presidents Nixon and Ford — further convince importers of U.S. grains that the United States is not a dependable supplier?" Wills asked.

He pointed out that the two earlier embargoes damaged overseas markets for U.S. farm products in ways that still are being felt. Most notably, once-steady customers of the U.S. farmer have sought other suppliers in case another embargo should be imposed.

Wills also said that the Carter plan to add six million tons of grain to the reserve program — in order to take the corn off the market as a price-boosting action — may place a burden on the marketplace in future years.

"If there is a good U.S. crop in 1980," he said, "the supply would be all the more greater, and it could trigger some type of acreage restrictions or production controls for 1981 crops."

Pres. Carter also has said he plans to commit five million tons of corn to increased production of alcohol for use in the gasoline-alcohol mix.

Some other steps announced that may help to ameliorate the effects on farmers are increased wheat exports to lesser developed countries, increased loan guarantees on exported grain, and grain sales to Mexico.

Wills says the reduction in exports could cost as much as $3 billion. And he says the already high U.S. trade deficit probably will increase by more than that, because agriculture products are one of the few exports by the United States with a favorable trade balance.

The long-term impact on corn and wheat prices will depend on the success of the government's plans to help farmers weather the reduced exports, which can be expected to reduce prices paid to farmers.

The short-term impact may be even harder to assess.

"There is a confused market in the country," Wills said. "The Chicago Board of Trade closed Jan. 7 and 8, and this suggests the level of confusion out there while the various market implications are being more fully evaluated."

Acquire parking area for jurors

Madison County residents called for jury duty finally are going to have some parking places of their own — if they arrive before 10 a.m., that is.

The Madison County board Wednesday voted to purchase the Norfolk and Western Railway right-of-way between Center and Randle streets in Edwardsville for use as a county parking lot.

The site is alongside the new county jail and about a block from the courthouse. The railroad has agreed to sell the land for 75 cents per square foot, bringing the total cost to about $10,000. There will be room for a roadway and 35 parking spaces, Charlie Bode, Edwardsville, chairman of the buildings committee, told the board.

A motion to buy the right-of-way had an amendment tacked on by Homer Booth-

JA companies to display wares

Next weekend St. Clair Square's 120 stores and restaurants will be joined by 40 separate business firms which have joined forces for Junior Achievement Days.

The miniature corporations of Junior Achievement will display and sell their wide variety of manufactured products, from serving trays to jumper cables, and from planters to picture frames.

The event will be held on the mall's lower level Saturday, Jan. 26, from 9:30 a.m. to 9:30 p.m., and Sunday, Jan. 27, from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Junior Achievement gives high school students experience in the operation of a company from start to finish, and also gives them a "real world" awareness of business and the free enterprise system. Each JA company is sponsored by one area firm that provides guidance in manufacturing, marketing and keeping books for the companies.

GC Council okays personnel changes

Two resignations from the Granite City Ambulance Service have been accepted by the Granite City Council and one new appointment has been approved.

Emergency Medical Technician (EMT) Charles Constant resigned, effective Dec. 31. His resignation letter gave no reason for his leaving.

Claudia Kelly, who is in charge of financial bookkeeping, billing and collections for the service, submitted her resignation letter, effective Jan. 31. She said she has enjoyed working with the ambulance service.

Mayor Paul Schuler appointed Michael Leisner as a new EMT for the service and the city council concurred in the appointment, which was effective immediately.

In other personnel actions, Alderman Earl Baker asked the city attorney to draw up an ordinance which would require most new city employees to pass a physical examination, including a back X-ray, before being hired. Among departments for which the examinations should be required are the police and fire departments, ambulance service, street department and sewage treatment plant, he recommended.

The council referred Baker's request to the city attorney for a recommendation, which he is expected to make at tomorrow night's council meeting.

Victor Koenig, area coordinator for Civil Defense, was granted expenses of up to $527 to attend the mid-year conference of the U.S. Civil Defense Council in Washington, D.C., Feb. 24 to 27.

Paula Case, director of the city's Air Pollution Control Department, was granted permission and expenses to attend seminars Feb. 10 to 15 in San Francisco, Calif., and March 9 to 14 in Baltimore, Md. Expenses of $500 plus transportation for each event were approved from federal funds. Alderman Earl Baker was the only alderman who voted against the approvals.

The aldermen gave tentative approval to a plan for an annual Rick Rose invitational foot race in Granite City. Alderman Paul Fisk introduced Rose, who said he believes the event will attract about 500 runners of all ages.

Proceeds this year will be used to help defray expenses encountered by Rose in competing in several events which may lead to his qualifying for the Olympics.

Surplus funds are to be divided between the Booster clubs of the two Granite City high schools to aid young athletes.

The council gave tentative approval to the event, but stipulated that the date and the route must be approved by the council before the event is held.

The council approved a $6,000 annual allocation to continue its participation in the Senior Aides Program of Belleville Area College. The annual report for the program shows that it now has 15 senior aides working in Granite City and two have found permanent jobs which do not require subsidizing by the program.

Patrolman Fred Hoffman, advisor to Explorer Post 1033, which is sponsored by the police department, was granted $201 to attend a law enforcement exploring seminar at Kansas City, Mo., with members of his post Feb. 15 to 17.

Hearing on status of former sheriff

U.S. District Judge J. Waldo Ackerman has scheduled a hearing for 9 a.m. Wednesday in Alton on the status of John Maeras of Madison, former Madison County sheriff who was convicted in February of racketeering and mail fraud. The hearing is at the formal request of U.S. Attorney Gerald Fines, who indicated he feels Maeras' current physical condition should be detailed for the court.

Judge Ackerman postponed sentencing indefinitely after the former sheriff's doctors testified that he is suffering from terminal cancer.

Catholic Charities, Youth agency, Urban cooperation

The local Catholic Charities agency will, during 1980, phase in programs enabling the agency to extend its service delivery capability, along with functions and facilities of other United Way programs and agencies including the Co-Ordinated Youth-Services, Urban League, United Way and AFL-CIO Community Service.

"Instead of having only one base for social services, we will begin to mesh some specific programs with these other agencies at four locations, using qualified existing staff and facilities without increasing costs," the Catholic Charities executive director, Father Maurice J. Quilligan, commented today.

"Instead of people having to come to our Granite City office for every service we offer, it will now be possible for them to contact the United Way Community Service Centers located at 406 Madison Ave., Madison; 3809 Lake Drive, Pontoon Beach; and Niedringhaus Ave., Granite City. Our location is at 2012 Delmar Ave.

"Available are the services offered by the Catholic Charities, plus those of Co-Ordinated Youth and the Madison County Urban League.

"Another location is planned for Venice this year."

Further information can be obtained by calling the United Way Information and Referral Center, 876-2383, or any of the three agencies listed.

Coordination will continue to be provided by the United Way Information and Referral Center staff. Service delivery and effectiveness of the agencies will be monitored weekly by Volunteer United Way Services Professional Coordinating Group members, consisting of the chief professional officers of the three agencies.

In any successful program, there are many key elements. One such element is the students. The Achievers in essence are Junior Achievement.

How do they become Achievers? How are they able to have the opportunity of learning about the free enterprise system?

Prior to each school year, JA contacts the principals of area high schools to obtain an appointment for Junior Achievement representatives to present the program to students.

The principal and the representative set up the date and method of explaining the program to students.

Three methods are used: Going room-to-room, speaking to 30 students at a time. Speaking over the intercom system. Or, speaking to a school assembly.

The room-to-room method is the most personal and direct means of talking to students about JA. Pertinent information as to how JA operates and what may be learned is revealed at this time.

Application cards are distributed to all students, and each one has the opportunity to apply.

LOCAL CENTER. Home of the Granite City Junior Achievement Business Center is at 3307 Wabash Ave. It contains four workshops, each occupied by a different JA Company every night from Monday through Thursday.

PEOPLE

300 here learning free enterprise

Since October 1979, twenty new corporations have been formed in Granite City, Madison and Venice.

These are the companies of teenagers learning the challenge and excitement of running a business in the free enterprise system.

Junior Achievement locally is in its 25th year of operation as part of a national program begun with industry support in 1919 to help teach the American economic system.

More than 8,000 youths in the Quad-City area have benefited from the program over the 25 years.

Each year, approximately 45 business people volunteer to guide the Achievers of the 20 JA companies in forming and operating a business.

Through the cooperation of the principals of Granite City North, Granite City South, Madison and Venice high schools, students hear the story of Junior Achievement and have the opportunity to apply for membership.

Sixteen of the companies meet at the Granite City Center, 3307 Wabash Ave. Three companies meet at the OATH Center in Madison.

The final company, sponsored by the First Granite City National Bank, meets at the bank. The JA Bank services all the JA Companies at the Granite City Center.

Each company applies for and receives a charter giving it the right to begin operation and, more important, the right to capitalize the company.

This is done by selling common stock at $1 per share to people who want to invest in the youth-operated business. The company operates on a strict profit-and-loss basis.

After selection of the product, raw materials are purchased and production begins. Hand tools and power equipment available at the business center are used in manufacturing many of the products.

As in any business, production results in inventory; when shelves get stocked, sales must be made. Achievers sell their products in open market competition, asking only that the buying decisions be made on quality of merchandise.

Officers are elected in the meantime. The president is responsible for overall company planning and operation; the vice-president of marketing handles the sales program.

The vice-president of production oversees the production line and quality of the finished product; the vice-president of finance handles the money, and the vice-president of administration handles board meeting correspondence and personnel.

The JA company members are the board of directors. The president presides over quarterly board meetings to handle challenges that have arisen and other necessary business.

At the meeting, each officer reports on the progress of his department.

After the 25-week operations, companies liquidate, and report to and pay stockholders.

In the 25 weeks, the Achiever will have received a greater understanding and appreciation of the free enterprise system.

Brown, Irv Siegel, who is coordinating adviser, and Larry Kulp, Paul Wuebbels, Jerry Magurany and Randy Isaak.

Cooperation by area's industries, advisers

Junior Achievement would not exist without the support of business and industry.

The reason the Granite City program is one of the best programs in the Mississippi Valley Area is "the cooperation of business and industry in encouraging their staff to participate in this program," according to Carl E. Mathias, Granite City Junior Achievement sponsorship chairman and service area manager for Illinois Power Company.

"Advisers donate two or more hours per week of their time to guide and counsel youngsters in their business endeavors. The quality of the advisers is excellent, as demonstrated by the achievements of the students," Mathias added.

Where do the Advisers come from?

The firms which sponsor Junior Achievement supply advisers.

A. O. Smith Corporation sponsors four companies on Monday night; American Steel Foundries sponsors four companies on Tuesday night; Granite City Steel Foundries sponsors four companies each Wednesday night, as well as three companies at Madison-Venice; and Thursday nights are split, two companies from Illinois Power Company and two from Illinois Bell Telephone Company.

First Granite City National Bank sponsors the bank, which meets Thursday afternoon at First Bank.

"We have such interest among our business leaders that we offer a full program in Granite City," Mathias said. "Our motive? We are sure that when Achievers enter the business world, they will have a better understanding of the problems in operating a business and will be better employees.

Concurred, interested advisers make the difference in successful Junior Achievement. In the first weeks, their involvement is crucial.

They explain the program and what to expect—that running a business isn't all success. Advisers train the officers. After the fifth week of JA, this role turns from control of the company to advising the officers on the best way to go.

"Advisers have a lot of business experience to give, but they receive a lot also.

Irv Siegel, coordinating adviser with A. O. Smith Corp., said "The few dedicated hours required each week return many rewards to me. For one, I enjoy working with the kids."

"The most satisfying times materialize with the warm pride that is felt when the company or when an Achiever receives a well-deserved award."

Vince Lohmann, an 18-year adviser with American Steel Foundries, said, "The association with teenagers is unique. They are as unpredictable as the rest of us."

Advisers not only enjoy their "give and take" with the high school students, but also believe in the JA goals.

"For many teenagers, this is their first acquaintance with American business and the free enterprise system," Lohmann noted.

"Teenagers need to know about the workings of business, the necessity of making a profit, and that profit is not a dirty word."

GC JA — $10,000 in sales

Granite City Junior Achievement is third out of 25 Junior Achievement locations in total sales. The companies are averaging $625 in sales.

Three Granite City companies are in the top 25 in sales for the whole region. "U-Link," which meets on Monday nights, has $1,585 in sales, tops of the GC Center and good for ninth overall.

"U-Link" manufactures and markets candle centerpieces and is sponsored by A. O. Smith Corporation.

"JAPCO III," which meets on Thursday nights, has $1,157 in sales from producing fudge. Sponsored by Illinois Bell Telephone Co., "JAPCO III" is 17th in the Mississippi Valley area.

"JAPCO '80," also into fudge, is sponsored by American Steel Foundries and has $953 in sales, good for 25th in the area in sales.

Top salesmen recognized

The backbone behind every company is its sales force. This provides the manufacturing concern with the income necessary to operate at a profit.

Each firm in each industry recognizes the importance of its sales force, as evidenced by the high commission rates, bonus plans, and other incentives.

Junior Achievement also realizes the great effort required to make a top-notch salesperson.

In JA, awards are presented for $100, $200 and $500 in sales.

In addition to those awards, any individual with $200 in sales is eligible to compete in the area sales contest.

When an Achiever becomes the area representative, after several judging sessions, he or she then will receive a free trip to the National JA Conference in August in Bloomington, Ind. There, the salesperson competes for top national honors, which include a $1,000 award.

Praise for new book on singer Hank Williams

HANK WILLIAMS: COUNTRY MUSIC'S TRAGIC KING. By Jay Carress. (Published by Stein and Day, 1979)

Reviewed by David Butler
SUE Department of English

A second biography by a major publisher has just appeared on country music immortal Hank Williams. Jay Carress owes a big debt to Roger Williams' "Sing a Sad Song" (Doubleday and Company, 1970), which he freely acknowledges. But he has done much research himself, greatly enhancing and expanding the earlier study.

Dyed-in-the-wool Hank Williams fans, however, will find Carress's book even more intriguing than the earlier biography.

While Roger Williams was intent on telling who Hank Williams was, Carress himself a country music DJ in Louisville—assumes his readers' acquaintance and devotion to Hank and tries to explain why his life and career developed as they did.

The passage of time has allowed Carress to bring the story up-to-date and chronicle the lives and the many deaths among Hank's family and close associates in recent years.

He also parallels the popularity and early death of Hank Williams with other performers such as Elvis Presley, Judy Garland and Marilyn Monroe.

Twenty-five years after his death, the enigma and popularity of Hank Williams remain. Carress's book sheds light on both.

Karen Johnson, 19, of 2817 Circle Drive, was injured when she was driving across the railroad tracks on Nameoki Drive last week and a light blue pickup truck with a camper shell struck her. She was sent to St. Elizabeth Medical Center, where she was treated for chest pains and was released.

BREAK INTO HOME

Nothing is known missing after a break-in at the mobile home of George Waddell, 3131 W. 20th St., which was discovered Thursday. A door was forced open to gain entry. A closet was ransacked and a television set was moved to the back door, but not taken.

Haine campaign office will open

Campaign headquarters for Bill Haine, a Democratic candidate for Madison state's attorney, will open Thursday, Jan. 24, with an open house for the public at 6:30 p.m. Haine's headquarters, located at 53 E. Ferguson Ave., Wood River, will be open daily from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Haine, of Alton, is currently practicing law in Wood River. He feels the state's attorney's office is the most important office in Madison County and as such "should be more responsive to the needs of victims of crime."

"People in Madison County need strong, consistent, trustworthy leadership in the state's attorney's office," Haine said.

"Criminals are the terrorists in our society. Victims of crime should and will be my clients if I am elected as state's attorney."

Haine is a graduate of St. Louis University and the St. Louis University Law School, where he was an editor and contributor to the St. Louis University Law Journal.

In 1976, Haine was appointed as assistant public defender of Madison County. He served in that capacity, full time, until 1978, when he resigned due to his election to a four-year term on the Madison County Board from District-8.

As a member of the county board, Haine serves on the Judiciary Committee and the Environmental Control Committee.

A Vietnam war veteran, he served with the First Air Cavalry Division in Vietnam, where he was awarded the Bronze Star. Haine is married to the former Anna Schickel. They have four daughters.

FROM GERMAN TO ENGLISH.

Raymond J. Spahn of Edwardsville, emeritus professor of German at SIUE and president of the Friends of Lovejoy Library, is translating into English "Reisebericht," a day-by-day account in German of Highland's founders' arduous three-month journey from Switzerland to "New Switzerland." First published in Switzerland in 1833, "Reisebericht" was included with a collection of papers and letters relating to Highland's founding given to SIUE's library. The collection is a gift of Mrs. William Coats of California, a descendant of one of Highland's founders. Dr. Spahn, who had edited English translations of two other books by Highland founders, says, "In 1870, New Switzerland—a four-township area in eastern Madison County with Highland as its hub—had the largest concentration of Swiss in the United States. Today, the Chicago area has a larger concentration." A pioneer at SIUE, he joined the staff in 1957. Friends of Lovejoy Library is an organization of persons from both inside and outside the university who work for advancement of the SIUE library.

Clark, Higgins join board of the American Heritage Bank

Two new directors were added to the board of directors of the American Heritage Bank of Granite City. Announcement was made by Henry D. Karandjeff, chairman, at the bank's annual stockholder meeting held last week.

Kenneth K. Clark is the founder and chairman of the board of the Rockford-based Illinois Hospital and Health Services, Inc. (Blue Cross) with branch offices in Alton and East St. Louis.

He is a member of the Methodist Church and is a director of the Lions Club Charity Foundation.

Clark has been active in the communications field with the development and direction of Freeport Community Television, Inc.; WREX-TV (Channel 5) in Oklahoma City; and Metro-Cable Television of Rockford.

In 1964, Clark was appointed, by the governor, to the Illinois Racing Board. He later served as a member of the executive committee of the National Association of State Racing Commissioners and is now a life member of the association.

Clark also holds membership in the Elks Club, Tebala Temple, Royal Order of Jesters and American Management Association.

Also named a director was Roger A. Higgins, plant manager of the Nestle Company 26 years ago and, after completing a factory management course in Vevey, Switzerland, he returned to Granite City in 1971 to become plant manager.

Higgins is active in local civic and community affairs. He is on the executive board of the Southwestern Illinois Industrial Association; a director of the Illinois Manufacturers Association; past president of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce; and a director of the Red Cross, United Way and Urban League.

In addition, his interest in sports and the development of young people have him serving as a commissioner of East Alton Parks and Recreation; a member of the executive board of the Cahokia Mound Council, Boy Scouts of America; a member of the Citizens Advisory Board for the East Alton-Wood River schools; and a coach for Quad-City teams and the Inter-City Baseball League.

Occasionally he finds time to enjoy his hobby—golf. Henry Karandjeff, in his message to the stockholders, said, "We are pleased and fortunate to have Kenneth Clark and Roger Higgins join the board of directors of the American Heritage Bank. They have both made extensive contributions to our community. Their talents, skills and abilities will be of great benefit to the bank."

Karandjeff added, "The past year was a good year for American Heritage and a good year for our customers as well. Our depositors received the highest interest rate in the bank's history on their savings. "Last year's addition of several new industries in our area, and the multi-million-dollar expansions of existing plants, were an excellent indicator that industry has great faith in the future of our community."

"As a community-oriented bank, we are directly affected by the economy of the area. At this point, we are very enthusiastic about 1980 and anticipate that it will be an exceptional year for both the community and the bank."

Announcement was made of the re-election of the bank's other directors and officers.

Directors re-elected were Ernest R. Bickhaus, Dr. Apostle D. Karandjeff, Henry D. Karandjeff, Robert Henry Karandjeff, Paul H. Kelly and Kiro Vasiloff.

Officers re-elected were Henry D. Karandjeff, chairman and president; Robert Henry Karandjeff, vice-president and cashier; Charles J. Baricevic, vice-president; Frank J. Palank, assistant vice-president; Helen Mangoff, assistant cashier; Darlene Palovchik, assistant cashier; Jon R. Teague, assistant cashier; and Charlotte McBride, assistant cashier.

During the business meeting, which was conducted by Mrs. Irvin Slatte, reports were given by committee chairmen.

Of special interest was the Illinois P.E.O. Home Newsletter, which was read by Mrs. B. C. Miller Sr. The home is located in Knoxville and Mrs. Miller reported she had mailed items to the home to be used by the residents during the various social activities planned for the winter months.

Mrs. George Marshman told the chapter there are 11 International P.E.O. Scholarship students attending Illinois universities this year. These are women who are pursuing graduate study programs. They are residents of countries throughout the world, and are awarded scholarships by the P.E.O. Sisterhood, with the understanding they will return to their native country when they have completed their education.

At the conclusion of the business meeting Mrs. Arthur Buehner presented the program for the day. She chose excerpts from the book "Out of the Heart". Several humorous incidents were included in Mrs. Buehner's remarks. Those pertained to the early history of the Sisterhood, which was founded in 1860.

City seeking funds to repair sewer

By GARY SCHNEIDER of the Press-Record
Granite City is qualified for more federal funds for sewer repairs, according to a document which is being sent to the Federal Emergency Services and Disaster Agency (FESDA) by city officials.

A 10-page document challenging the scope of a study done for the federal government on sewer breaks is to be presented to the Granite City Council tomorrow night for council approval.

The document, prepared by City Engineer Monroe Brewer, alleges the federal study discriminated between the Illinois and Missouri sides of the river by using area-wide generalizations on the ground water situation. The report used by FESDA in determining that Granite City does not qualify for sufficient funds for proper manhole-to-manhole repairs of sewer breaks indicated that the soil and ground water conditions were the same in Granite City as they are in St. Louis.

Actually, according to Brewer's study, several factors were ignored, including the different soil on the east side of the Mississippi River, the effects of the Clin of Rocks Canal and locks and Horseshoe Lake on the water table here, the greater distance between the bluffs and the river on both sides, and other factors.

Bovay Engineers, Inc., of Texas was hired by FESDA to study sewer breaks in this area and determine which were caused by flooding in the spring of 1979.

Commenting on the Bovay study, Brewer said the study "indicated that the writers are not familiar with the American Bottoms area, and, as a result, tend to treat the whole area as following the same general rules and conditions. The subtle differences between, say, Cahokia and Granite City can be significant in determining the actions of the ground water table."

He also said the basic assumption by the Bovay firm that only the broken portions of the sewers should be repaired and the remainder between manholes should be cleaned and grouted is an erroneous assumption.

"Any time a sewer in the sandy area of flooded ground water has a conventional cleaning device, such as a hydrocleaner placed in it after it has been flooded damaged, the usual result is that the sewer collapses. This is almost a certainty," Brewer states.

He noted that after the 1973 flood, FESDA agreed that manhole-to-manhole repairs were proper, but after the high ground water in the spring of 1979, FESDA accepted Bovay's contention that only broken portions of pipe should be repaired and the rest between manholes should be cleaned and grouted.

Brewer pointed out that one contractor and engineer found that during 1975 repairs, including the high cost of dewatering, pre-damaged manhole-to-manhole repairs cost about $200 per foot, while the "unit cost, dig and find out what you already know method," cost twice as much.

Commenting on the repair in question, Brewer stated, "Our approach to this particular sewer repair was approved and found to be eligible for disaster assistance in 1975. We are only asking for equal consideration in this flood situation."

The city engineer also alleged that several of the documents Bovay submitted were false or misleading. He contended survey sheets indicating he and Ed Schulze participated in meetings June 3 and June 5 are false and cited city records which show Bovay representatives did not visit them until July 3.

Survey sheets also carried an indication that Brewer and Schulze concurred with the opinion that only broken portions of the sewers should be replaced and the rest between manholes should be cleaned and grouted.

"Neither Mr. Schulze nor I concur," the letter states. Brewer contended the survey sheets were dated to indicate the studies were done before Brewer submitted his Damage Survey Report June 14, "which is not a fact."

He concluded, "I believe that this denial should be appealed until either assistance is granted or there is no further avenue of appeal."

Major crimes decrease 2%

By GARY SCHNEIDER of the Press-Record
Major crimes were down 2.2 percent in Granite City in 1979, when compared to the previous year, according to the annual crime summary released by Granite City Police Chief Ronald J. Veizer Friday.

In addition to crimes declining last year, the number of cases cleared by arrests last year was up eight percent, Veizer noted, adding, "I am very proud of our men."

Reductions were noted during the year in four major crime categories, including rape, where a 27 percent decline was noted, from 11 cases in 1978 to eight cases last year.

Robbery cases were down from 31 in 1978 to 27 in 1979, a 13 percent drop. Showing a 10 percent drop were home burglaries, going from 579 cases in 1978 to 519, and a two percent decline was noted in larceny cases, which went from 1054 to 1035 cases last year.

On the other side of the coin, crime increased in two categories, including homicide, where three cases occurred last year as compared to two in the previous year.

Only two of the cases were criminal homicide and both were cleared by arrest. The other is listed as a reckless homicide from a traffic death, but there is speculation the category may be changed if there is an arrest in the case.

Other increases in major crimes were noted in auto theft cases, up nine percent from 170 cases in 1978 to 185 in 1979, and in assault cases which rose three percent, from 302 to 312 incidents. Auto burglary cases were up one percent, from 383 cases to 386.

Overall, there were 2,475 crimes in the above categories in 1979, down 2.2 percent from the 2,532 cases in 1978.

The actual number of major crime cases cleared by arrest was up eight percent last year over the previous year, including a 47 percent increase in auto burglaries cleared by arrests; 44 auto burglaries were solved through arrest, compared to 30 in 1978.

Other increases in the number of cases cleared by arrest were noted for assault, up 11 percent from 238 to 266, and larceny up 16 percent (from 269 to 313).

Declines in the numbers of cases which were cleared by arrest were noted for rape, down 44 percent (from nine cases to five); burglary, down 13 percent (from 111 to 96); and auto theft, down 27 percent (from 33 to 24).

A total of 1,177 cases not in the major crime categories were solved by arrest during 1979, an eight percent increase from the 1,093 solved in 1978.

This brought the total number of cases cleared through arrests in 1979 to 1,945, a 7.8 percent increase over the 1,804 in the previous year, according to the report.

The police department answered 23,373 complaints, accidents and crimes during 1979, an average of over 64 calls per day, Veizer concluded.

South explodes over North, 60-34

By KEVIN ALLEN
of the Press-Record
GRANITE CITY — The most recent chapter of the ongoing basketball rivalry between the two Granite City high schools was written Friday night at Granite City South. And, this time at least, the heroes turned out to be the Warriors.

The traditional bitter contest expected by both North and South never really materialized, as the Warriors' defense confounded the Steelers' at-the Steelers 60-34. North coach Bill Ohlendorf enumerated his team's downfall like this. "They (South) just completely outplayed us. It was nothing we didn't anticipate. They shot well and were very, very aggressive."

The Warriors, whether because of the rivalry, or looking for a chance to get back into the Gateway East conference race, or whatever, played inspired defense. The likes of which South has displayed only in flashes so far this season.

And the Steelers, inspired or not, could do little when faced with the extraordinary defense. "We were very, very ready to play tonight," Deterding said. "We played with a lot of intensity. Obviously, we had something special to play for."

From the beginning, the Warriors were up to something special. South's Lee Huebner threw in six of the Warriors' first eight points, as he sank shots from all around the perimeter of the North defense. Inside, South's Kevin Greene was both driving and scoring, as he put in another eight points for South. Jamie Blasingame added two more points, and the Warriors took an 18-5 lead into the second quarter.

"We didn't execute as well as we could," Ohlendorf said. "But their defense didn't allow us to, either."

The Warriors forced North into seven turnovers in the first quarter and four more in the second period. But more than those figures indicate, the Steelers were foiled time and again in attempts to set up plays or merely pass cross-court.

"On paper we didn't dominate the game," Deterding said. "We had 19 rebounds to 12 for North. But turnovers really hurt them."

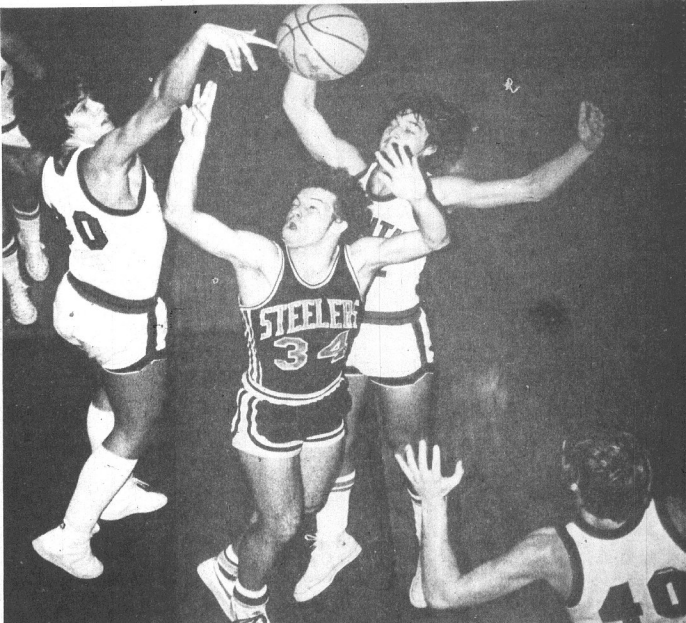

The Steelers gave up the ball 29 times in all, compared to 13 turnovers for South. The Steelers seemed hard-pressed both by the Warrior defense and the pressure of trying to make up a big point deficit quickly.

"When we jumped out to the big lead it fires us up and sets them back," Deterding said. The Warriors continued to build on the 13-point lead they took into the second quarter. An example of how South's defense dominated the Steelers was two consecutive plays midway through the second quarter. North's Bob Batey was bringing the ball down the court, when South's Huebner stole the ball and passed cross-court to Bill Skinner who scored easily.

The ball went over to the Steelers but again the Warriors quickly took control. This time Kevin Greene ran in front of a north pass and headed down the right side of the court where he put the Warriors up 24-7.

By the half South had jumped to a 34-14 lead.

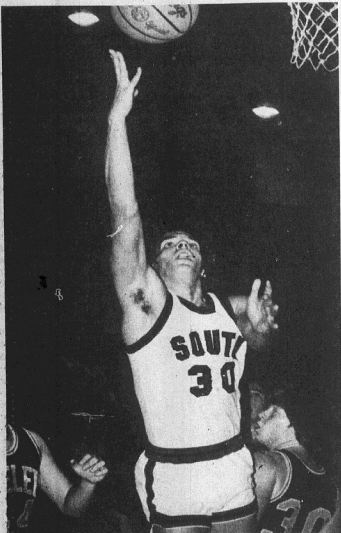

In the second half North was without the services of its most consistent shooter, Dennis Page. But according

SLAP-SHOT. Granite City North's Bob Batey (34) has his shot blocked by South's James Blasingame (left) Friday in his team's 60-34 loss.

Batey wasn't alone. South's defense stymied the Steelers' all night. Behind Batey is South's Lee Huebner. Number 40 is Brent Houston.

Steelers ramble on, take Quincy tourney

Special to the Press-Record
QUINCY — Granite City North wrestling coach Walt Whitaker could be described in the words of the old saying they used to use on TV: "No brag, just fact."

While Belleville West and Granite City South usually fight it out for area supremacy in prep wrestling, this season could turn out to be a bit of a surprise in the long run. North had six finalists and three champions here Saturday while winning the team championship of the Quincy Invitational.

And North had to beat out an important rival to do it. North's Steelers led from the beginning to the end and finished well ahead of second-place Cahokia, 169-151.5. That margin was almost as important to Whitaker as winning the title. Cahokia and North have been battling it out this season for the third spot in the Press-Record Coaches' Poll. North at last count was one point ahead and bearing down on cross-town school South.

Final team standings were: 1. North 169, 2. Cahokia 151.5, 3. East Moline 144.5, 4. Springfield 101, 5. Burlington, Iowa 94.5.

6. Quincy 89; 7. E. St. Louis 88; 8. Lanphier 82; 9. Rock Island 78; 10. Stephen Decatur 62.5; 11. E. St. Louis Lincoln 56.5; 12. Decatur Eisenhower 50.5; 13. Decatur MacArthur 24.5; 14. Clifton Central 19.5.

The victory at Quincy will most likely give North (13-1) momentum going into its next dual meet Jan. 30 against South. "This should help us get ready," said Whitaker. "It's a tournament and the win (last week) over Riverview Gardens (defending Missouri champion)." Will the nearly two-week layoff hurt the Steelers? "I don't think it'll hurt us too much," said Whitaker. "It'll give us plenty of time to prepare for South."

At Quincy, North pretty well had things its own way. The only major surprise came when unbeaten Gerald Miller (112 pounds) was beaten by Paul Wright of East St. Louis Lincoln 4-0 in the championship bout.

North's first individual champion was Mike Robinson at 98 pounds. The feisty junior got revenge on Cahokia's Bob McDaniel in the championship bout, 7-3. McDaniel had beaten Robinson in the Granite City Holiday Tournament.

Bob Kirgan of North turned out to be the star of the meet. Not only did he win the 126-pound champion, but he beat Cahokia's Mark Lorentzen 5-4 to do it. Lorentzen was the top seeded wrestler in the tourney.

For his performance in the tournament, Kirgan was voted the Outstanding Wrestler (award by the coaches).

North other individual champion came at 138 pounds where Kevin Sherwell ran his record to 22-1 with a 7-3 trashing of Cahokia's Bob Kofron.

In the other two championship bouts involving North wrestlers, Steele Tracy Patton lost to Tom Stupavski of Quincy 15-2 and sophomore Scott Corey lost to Kevin Sement of Cahokia 10-4.

North had one third place winner, Steve Smith at 105 pounds, beat John Inland of East Moline 6-2 in the 3rd place bout.

Two Steelers wrestled back to win consolation honors. Glen Thompson at 132 pounds beat York of Cahokia 8-4 in his first wrestling back and heavyweight Tim Wrosteck beat Garfield of Decatur MacArthur 2-0 in his.

"I'm extremely pleased with the entire team's effort," said Whitaker. ("Scott) Corey, I think, VENICE — With 13 seconds left in Friday night's game, the Venice Red Devils had the ball and a chance to pull out a come from behind win with the visiting Vashon Bulldogs. Red Devil coach Ken Perkins called time out and quickly devised the strategy.

"I told them I wanted either Gardner (Archie or brother Donald) to shoot the ball. We wanted to overload the right side with Milton (Harold) and Wigfall (Kevin), setting up a double-pick," said Perkins. "I wanted a shot off with six or seven seconds left so we could have a chance to tip the ball."

Venice brought the ball into play and set up the pick. Don Gardner got the ball but decided he didn't like the angle and passed off to brother Archie. Archie wasn't too crazy about his angle either, and as the warming Vashon sagged in on him, he passed off to Milton.

Milton let fly with a 20 foot jumper at the buzzer that hit the back of the rim, bounced to the front and rolled off. The Bulldogs had won 58-57. So much for the strategy.

"No, it didn't work out like we wanted it to," said Perkins. "But you have to give Vashon a lot of credit. They played tough defense."

The game began with both teams shooting totally "from outside. Venice, in fact, took only one inside shot the entire first quarter.

"We weren't moving very well," Perkins said. "The middle was open. We were too lazy to go in there. We were busy sending out for pizza or something, I guess."

Vashon coach Floyd Irons was happy to see Venice shooting the 18 foot jumpers.

"I was hoping they'd keep launching those long ones," Irons said. "You can't live by the jump shot."

The quarter ended with Vashon leading 15-13.

Venice played much closer to the basket in the second quarter and went six-for-six on shots inside the lane. A layup by Donald Gardner gave the Devils a seven point lead with two minutes to go in the half, but the Bulldogs scored six unanswered points and went to the locker room trailing 30-29.

Vashon outscored Venice 24-16 in a fast-paced third quarter to take a 53-46 lead. Seven Bulldogs put points on the board in the quarter, while D. Gardner went four for six from the field and scored eight points for Venice.

During the last quarter, Vashon started to miss its leading scorer, Terry Waller, for the first time all game. Waller, sophomore forward averaging 18 points a game, had been HAZELWOOD — Seven Granite City South Warrior wrestlers took first-place honors at a quadrangular meet hosted by Hazelwood Central Saturday. South won the meet with a total of 227 points. Central finished second with 131, Lindbergh was third with 121, and Roxana finished fourth and last with 78 points.

All the individual Warriors to finish first were undefeated against the three teams and were: Greg Garland at 112 pounds, Tom McElroy at 138, Dean Perkins at 145, Scott Polson at 167, Jim Frangoulis at 175, Rich James at 185, and Bruce Monahan at heavyweight.

The other first-place finishers were: at 98 pounds, Rob Warren of Roxana; at 105, Greg Schoenberger of Enderberg; at 119, Brain Wood, Hazelwood Central; at 126, Darryll Horne, Hazelwood; 132, Rick Copeland, Roxana; and at 155, Ray Larsen, Hazelwood.

The quad was made up of three dual meets. The scores of those meets along with points for individual places tallied the final team points. SOUTH 40, HAZELWOOD 13. Mike Trgovich; at 98 for South, started the first dual meet of the quad with a 5-3 decision over Central's Gary O'Bannon. Then at 105, Warrior Chris Cottrell beat Marty Cahokia, 6-5. At 112, Garland shut out Greg Hampton, 15-0. The Warriors were off to a good start.

But, the next three weight classes were won by Hazelwood, and Central held them as their only victories. At 119, Ken Wilson was pinned by Brian Wood in 1:25; Randy Lupardus, at 126, lost 15-7 to Horne; and at 132, Rodney Lupardus lost a 2-1 bout to Mark Rice.

The Warriors gave no mercy after that and won the remaining seven bouts. At 138, McElroy scored a 7-6 decision over Phil Kaiser. At 145, Warrior Perkins, beat Chuck Sellini, 12-5; and Dru Clement, at 155, decided Larsen (the 155 pound champ) 9-5.

Polson, at 167, pinned Keith Frantz in 4:56.

Frangoulis beat Brian Aslin, 9-7, in the 175 pound contest. At 185, James whipped up on Matt Zack, 16-2; and in the unlimited weight class, Monahan pinned Marty Combs at the 4:30 mark. SOUTH 49, ROXANA 6. Roxana Shells won the first two bouts, but lost the rest to the Warriors. At 98, Warren of Roxana, beat Trgovich, 10-5; and at 105, Bob Milazzo, of the Shells, beat Cottrell, 5-2.

Garland, at 112, pinned Bob Mouse in 4:58 before Wilson whipped Ken Nelson, 14-5, at 119. At 126, Randy Lupardus, shut out Ken Bruggeman, 6-0; and Rodney Lupardus, at 132, landed a 6-2 win against Rick Copeland.

McElroy, 138, decisioned Greg Payne, 8-3; and Warrior 145-pounder Perkins pinned Terry Allard, 10-0.

At 155, Clement beat Ron Nelson, 8-2. Then Polson scored a 10-6 victory over Mike Babcock, in 1:07 pound bout.

Frangoulis, at 175 of the Warriors, started a trend that the rest of the heavy weights followed—pins. Frangoulis pinned Scott Hoskins at 3:19; James pinned 185-pound Dean Hollis in 1:25; and Monahan stuck
